Building Name: Calvin B. Taylor Banking Co. and Addition
Public/Private Access

Description:

The Calvin B. Taylor Banking Company is located on the south west corner of the intersection of Commerce and N. Main Sts. The original block is a square 1 1/2 story stretcher bond red brick building. A large round arched window with stained glass lunette and rock faced granite sill is in each of the 3 bays of north facade and single bay of the principal facade. The bays are articulated by brick pilasters extending the full height of the walls. The pedimented rectilinear entrance bay with a pyramidal roof is set into the north east corner of the building. Gray slate covers the hipped roof.

A stamped sheet metal continuous modillion cornice, roof cresting and finials are the architectural ornaments of the building. An engraved white marble plaque over the main entrance declares:

Calvin B. Taylor
Banking Company
Established 1890

A red brick 2-story mid 20th century addition was constructed to the northwest of and connected to the original block. It has regular 6/6 windows and a flat roof. Provision for a drive through teller window extending northward from the addition was also made at the same time. The original building and addition are presently in an excellent state of preservation.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This building is significant to the commercial district as a pivotal structure. As such, it provides a point of orientation within the district and with the Berlin Variety Store frames a streetscape. Although its design is a departure from the commercial style it nevertheless compliments and introduces variety to the visual impact of the streetscape. Its scale and materials relate it to the core buildings.

Additions in 1947 and 1957 have been moderately sensitive to the architectural integrity of the original building. Setback from and to the rear of the early building, the additions are elements of different streetscapes.

It has two bays on Main Street and three bays along the side street. One of the two bays is a door (unlike the corner entrance on the Exchange and Savings Bank). Each of the bays is set within a recessed panel and the central bay of the side and the main entrance have a pediment above. The structure is also covered by a hipped roof and there is a pyramidal tower at the corner of the building with a weather-vane. There is a tin decorative cap along the ridge of the roof and pediments.   Behind the old building is a new extension with modern facilities.
